

lyme regis

Lyme Regis in Dorset is a world heritage site renowned for its geographical and fossil finds

The brief was to design aluminium lamposts for the marine parade along the sea-front with an individual sculptural presence that reflected the identity of Lyme Regis and also its heritage

The chosen design fulfilled the brief by incorporating a three dimensional bespoke hand made "ammonite" fossil decorative feature within the classical arc of the bracket arm

The design went on to win two Good Lighting Awards from the British Astronomical Association which is highly unusual for one site and testament to the quality of the final product
